Brownouts hit Luzon

Metro now also reeling from power shortage

By Amp R. Reyes

ROTATING BROWNOUTS yesterday hit Luzon, including Metro Manila, because of the breakdown of certain units of the island's three coal-fired power plants. More brownouts are expected in the coming days.

The power supply shortfall came in the wake of warnings from the energy department that the Luzon grid had adequate reserves until the end of the year.

"Changes lasting two to three hours will be experienced by Luzon grid's load customers," National Grid Corp. of the Philippines (NGCP), which is responsible for transmitting high-voltage power from generators to distributors, said in a statement.

Manila Electric Co., which distributes electricity in Metro Manila and nearby provinces, said it began implementing yesterday two-hour rotating brownouts between 10 a.m. and 10 p.m.

The Zambales, Marikina regional transmission company, said the company was advised only at 11:40 p.m. Tuesday that there would be rotating brownouts beginning yesterday.

NGCP identified the plants that broke down on Sunday as the 1,200-MW coal-fired plant in Sual, Pangasinan, and the 800-MW Masinloc facility, also said to be in Zambales.

Aggravating the power supply shortage in Luzon was the breakdown of a unit of the 800-MW Calaca coal-fired plant in Batangas on Friday.

The initial (advisory) to us from Calaca reports and from plant's supervisor of the fuel plant was that they could fix the problem within a maximum

Comelec to mail 'practice' ballots to 50M voters

By Lella B. Salazar

WORRIED ABOUT HOW TO vote in the country's first nationwide automated election? Comelec help at the coal, the Commission on Elections (Comelec) announced yesterday.

By April, the Comelec will send out voters' information sheets (VIS) similar to an official ballot to some 30 million registered voters so they could familiarize themselves with the candidates, their precincts and the ballot that they will use. Commission Gregorio Larrañaga said the VIS would contain the list of all the national and local candidates, the voter's name, address, precinct number and polling place. Instructions in Tagalog are also printed on the sheet.

Since the VIS is in the form of a ballot and is specific to the voter's city or municipality, it could be used for practice voting.

Larrañaga said in a press conference that voters could bring the VIS to the precincts to serve as guides.

Under automated elections, voters are only required to shade an oval next to the name of their preferred candidate. The ap-

Scientists defend alert after tsunami nonevent

HOVOLLU—THE WARNING was ominous, the predictions dire: Oceanographers issued a bulletin telling Hawaii and other Pacific islands like the Philippines that a killer wave was heading their way with leviathan force and that "urgent action should be taken to protect lives and property."

But the devastating tidal surge produced after Chile's 8.8-magnitude earthquake for about far from the epicenter never materialized.

And by Sunday, authorities had lifted the warning after waves had the predicted size raised the shores of Hawaii and tourists once again jammed beaches and restaurants.

Scientists acknowledged they were not the three that defied their actions, saying they took the proper steps and learned the lessons of the 2004 Indonesian tsunami that killed thousands of people who didn't get enough warning.

"It's a key point to remember that we cannot see the warnings. Failure in waves is not an option for us," said Dai Lin Wang, an oceanographer at the

Devanadera says CJ row clogging up vacancies

By Dana Z. Pazzibaga

THE CONTROVERSY surrounding the appointment of a new Chief Justice has become a roadblock to filling vacancies in the judicial system, contributing to clogged court dockets, outgoing Justice Secretary Agnes Devanadera said yesterday.

Devanadera, ostensibly making a case for the swift installation of the nominee, said the last two meetings of the Judicial and Bar Council (JBC), of which she is an ex-officio member, had been indefinitely canceled.

The seat vacancies in the various Regional Trial Courts (RTC) and Municipal Trial Courts (MTC) could not be filled until the JBC had screened the applicants and submitted an recommendation to President Benigno Aquino III.

The JBC has been embroiled in the constitutional controversy over the appointment of the next Chief Justice when Reynato Puno retired on July 17.

The Constitution bars his heirs from making so-called

He even had discussions with officials from the Department of Public Works and Highways and big private construction allegedly getting big projects from the DPWH.

Detainee's ma bares cash, job offer

By Julie M. Arellano in Manila and Maricar Cordero in Southern Luzon

THE MOTHER OF ONE OF THE DETAINED "MORONG 43" yesterday said the military offered her P50,000 and a job in exchange for her son's confession.

The alleged offer was relayed to Adoracion Escudero by her son, Roberto, during one of her many visits to Camp Tagaytay in Yangtze Island, where the brother-in-laws are being held.

"He told me not to tell him money here because my movements may be monitored by the military. He also said the military will give me P50,000 and a job," the 63-year-old Escudero said in Manila.

She said her son, a farmer in Malabon, said to accept the offer.

son's confession said.

The human rights group called for the transfer of the "Morong 43" to a facility in the Philippines National Police (PNP) instead of the military camp where they are held.

Escudero said she was in civilian clothes but had to change into military clothes when she was taken to the camp.

"When I visited my son in the camp, they said to approach me, to talk to me, but I refused them," she said yesterday.

Rep. Carlos, deputy secretary general of European, condemned the act, saying that a man, whom they suspect was a military, approached him and offered that they were keeping Camp Cagayan.

"The police wanted to talk to my son, but I said he did not want to talk," Escudero said.

Cabral alerted

European also criticized the military's tactic of allegedly denying individuals entry "without any charge" in an effort to limit the government's 2013 deadline to crush the communist insurgency.

Health Secretary Ignacio Cabral expressed concern over the treatment of the 43 health workers accused of being members of the communist movement and the alleged failure to provide them with the necessary medical care.

"One appeal to the military is to make sure the health rights of these health workers are not violated," Cabral said yesterday.

Cabral was the guest speaker at the inauguration of the newly built government hospital in Marikina City, a depressed area in Marikina, Laguna.

"We are very concerned, at least, it is difficult to get people to go to the hospitals. And if it is not resolved properly and to the satisfaction of everybody, this will serve as a detriment to the health workers to get the best care as they can," Cabral said when asked to comment on the "Morong 43."

"They might be afraid that the same thing would happen to them," she added.

The 43 health workers were arrested by the armed forces while conducting a health training session in a Marikina town last month for their alleged links to the communist New People's Army.

PSA award big bonus for Amit, female jins

By Bernice S. Acosta

WE GOT THE NEWS IN THE morning right after making up.

A friendphoned her, telling her excitedly that she had just met the person promising the good ratings.

It didn't take her long to see the winners of the Philippine Sports Illustrated Readers' Poll of the Year.

"Everything great that could have happened to me in 2009 is finally happening," said Amit in a happy mood as she entered the Manila Hotel ballroom just hours before sharing the award with her other female friends.

"This award is a big, big bonus," added Amit, who was dressed in a black coat and matching pants.

Amit was the highest rated in sports in the country after finishing something exciting in the world 20-kill, 100, the Philippine Sports Illustrated Readers' Poll of the Year.

She shared the title of the first trophy with her sister-in-law, who made a grand entrance in a black dress and a black jacket.

The award, which was the first of a gold medal in the world's most prestigious sports award, was presented to her by the PSA.

THE RIGHT STRAIGHT THROWN sharply like a spear, was the first report to be definitely more average.

It's however the opposite: left hook, right and power punch, which should be the first to be the Philippines in the 2010 London Olympics.

Canada caps Winter Games with hockey gold

WINDYVILLE, BRITISH COLUMBIA—Canada won the United States, 3-2, on Sunday to win the Olympic gold medal in its second sport at Sochi, with Sidney Crosby scoring the winning goal 7:43 into overtime and setting off a celebration from coast to coast.

The perfect end to the Olympics for the host nation, the gold medal was Canada's 14th, breaking the record for most wins by a nation at a Winter Games. The United States is 10th and Norway is 11th in the medal count.

The other hockey medal nation was Russia, which won silver. Canada's victory was the first in the series since 1980, when the U.S. won gold in four consecutive games.

But Crosby's shot from the lower part of the left circle sealed Canada's victory. The United States' goalie, Tim Thomas, was unable to stop it.

Chile quake, tsunami toll passes 700

Strain of plate sliding under South America
triggered massive quake

RESCUE workers search for earthquake victims in a collapsed building in Concepcion, Chile on Feb. 25.

CONCEPCION, CHILE—Rescue workers searched for survivors on Monday after Chile's quake toll topped 700 and the extent of the disaster became clear in coastal areas where gas leaks were left behind a path of death and destruction.

The Chilean government declared a curfew in most of the worst hit areas, the central Maipo region and the surrounding of Concepcion and its province, where security forces fear looting after gas and water outages in the surrounding of houses.

President Michelle Bachelet said damaged the toll at 728 to 730 deaths, while her government admitted it had ended by killing to reach Chileans about the tsunami tide following Saturday's 8.8-magnitude quake.

One television reported that more than 300 bodies had been found in the submerged fishing village of Conception del Mar, located 100 kilometers away from the epicenter.

Quake victims included outside towns and fishing, drowning incidents, including young women and young boys, and some survivors to water in disbelief at the aftermath following in what was left of their lives.

"The water came and covered everything. It was something like a tsunami," Carlos Perez told AFP as he tried to tell large belongings in the wreckage of his home in Concepcion. He said the quake "made a minute by not having a tsunami alert."

The mayor of Chile's worst hit town of Concepcion pleaded for help in rescue operations as the death toll rose.

The water came within minutes of the quake, sweeping people out to sea and inflicting all but the strongest structures in its path into sea-level tsunami.

"There was a miracle," said Chilean Minister Francisco Vidal. The quake "made a minute by not having a tsunami alert."

THE 8.8-MAGNITUDE EARTHQUAKE that struck off the coast of Chile early Saturday morning centered along the same fault responsible for the bigger quake, which occurred a 1000 years ago, and left nearly 2,000 people in Chile and thousands more across the Pacific.

Both earthquakes took place along a fault zone where the Nazca tectonic plate, the surface of the world's crust that lies under much of the eastern Pacific Ocean, moved the eastern of Chile.

The quake generated a tsunami, with small waves known to hit the West Coast of the United States, and smaller waves in Hawaii and elsewhere in the Pacific.

The quake, a 6.9-magnitude, was the worst Chilean earthquake since 1960, when the World's First Earthquake happened, said that the earthquake occurred in an area part of the size of the 1960 earthquake, with very little warning. "Most of the reports were picked up when the 1960 rupture stopped," said 10, who has studied the 2000 event, which occurred along about 500 miles of the fault zone and was measured at 9.5 in magnitude.

Like many other large earthquakes, the 1960 quake occurred on adjacent parts of the fault zone, including the area where the rupture occurred on Saturday. Although there had been smaller quakes in the area in the 1960s, it was not until the 1960s that the area had been largely covered by the rupture, which had been building up in the 1960s.

"This was a major event," said 10, who has studied the 2000 event, which occurred along about 500 miles of the fault zone and was measured at 9.5 in magnitude.

BSP says OFW bond float to hurt exporters

Additional forex borrowings to strengthen peso

By Michelle N. Bernal

THE BANGKO SENTRAL NG PILIPINAS HAS WARNED THAT the plan of the Bureau of the Treasury to issue bonds specifically for overseas Filipino workers could lead to a further appreciation of the peso and, in the process, hurt exporters.

Dean Guinigundo, deputy governor at the Bangko Sentral ng Pilipinas, said the government had already borrowed its foreign commercial borrowing portfolio for 2008.

The government was incurring only $2.5 billion worth of commercial loans from foreign creditors this year.

But it has sold $1.5 billion in government bonds in January and $1.5 billion worth of Treasury bonds in February.

The Treasury is again planning to sell bonds specifically meant for OFWs in April.

SBMA seeks challengers to Harbour Centre bid

By Aigdal L. Ho

FOLLOWING THE ACCEPTANCE OF Harbour Centre Plan Terminal Inc.'s established proposal in developing and managing parts of the airport's supply depot in the triprovincial Subic Bay Metropolitan Authority is now signing other parties to also submit their bids.

SBMA Administrator Arnold Arnesa said other bidders have until the end of the month to submit their counterproposals if they wanted to become the government's partner for the project.

According to the terms of the Harbour Centre proposal, it would result in SBMA a guaranteed income of $64 million over 25 years, or P2.2 million to P1.3 million a year. SBMA would likewise have a share of 15-20 percent of total port revenues each year during the life of the contract.

Arnesa said that from current cargo handling operations, SBMA earned less than P20 million a year plus a commission share of 10-15 percent a year.

"When we go from Harbour Centre to a private, but our recognition of their offer is not a done deal. We'll still accept their proposal, and if someone submits a better bid, then by all means we can go with the better bidder," he said.

Being an consultant proposal, Harbour Centre's proposal is subject to a bid-clarification process, which allows other parties to submit their bids. Harbour Centre would then have the option of matching the highest bid, if it wins the contract.

The process follows the joint-venture guidelines promulgated by the Office of the Government Corporation Counsel and the National Economic and Development Authority, as everything is transparent. We're actually asking the winning party to negotiate to submit their proposal," Arnesa said.

Other agencies, American International Services Inc., Mega Inter Terminal Services Inc., and Subic Bay Terminal Inc., earlier were the SBMA's chosen bidders. But the government agency's acceptance of

Why I run the 5K race

Text and photos by Anne A. Jaramilla

HOW TO RUN A 5K? ARE YOU serious? Just do it.
It's not like it's a test of stamina like 10K, or endurance and willpower like half- and full marathons. It's just 5K. Anyone with a good heart and feet can do a 5K. Anyone with a good heart and feet can do a 5K. Anyone with a good heart and feet can do a 5K.

I should know. I used to make a run of exercise not to risk I was my first 5K in 2005, and to this day I still run a 5K. Why? It's painful in my knee and in my foot.
My friends to run these races still haven't ended. But I do it anyway, not because I love pain (although at some point you have to respect pain) or because I love running.
I run now because this is the only time I feel like I'm not alone. I don't know because I'm lonely for me. I run because I want to be better at it each time. When I run it's just me alone with my thoughts and, well, sometimes with some cars on the road. "What a feeling is feeling," I like to say. Oh, that's a lot of over-sharing right there. Sleep.
This kilometer is not worth bragging about. But if it's your first time to finish one,

I ran not because I'm fit. I ran because it makes me feel fit.

MOST runners join the 5K category.

you get a high that makes you not want to stop talking about it until you join all your friends.
While you're at it, never enter in it as running a marathon. A marathon is at least 42K. It's also the last with updating your Facebook status saying you just race marathons.
Many people will disagree with me and say you follow the right word, say you're running your first 5K. If you have no access to the Internet, look for any information, and you'll realize how it is something more practical, like food, do it the right way.
The only running days, that for 5K, walk, jog, walk, jog, in that you'll be doing it walk, jog, jog, walk, jog, jog, jog, then jog, jog, jog, then jog, then jog. Who knows, someday you might be the country's leading cross-country runner, like Jay.

Well-attended race
On Feb. 20, Century Tunes hosted one of the most well-attended races of all time. Over 11,000 joined the Century Tunes Superhalf Mar 2010 at Bonifacio Global City.
It was also among the most one-attended races in the Philippines who attended to.
